

Our Indian Relations.

If the quotation is allowable, we may say, so far as the Indians are concerned, "Order reigns in Warsaw." It has been a long time since our Territory enjoyed such a season of peace as we have experienced for the last three months. Indian depredations appear to have ceased entirely, or "if any take place" they never come to the ears of the authorities. At this time there is not a tribe in the Territory that has not sued for peace, or entered into treaty stipulations. The first to come to terms were the Mesquero Apaches, who signified their desire for peace quite early last spring. In June last the Governor met them in council, at Fort Thorn, and made, as we think, a good and judicious treaty, and the provisions of which they agreed to, with great willingness. Every article was fully explained to them, and they left the council well satisfied. The treaty provides for placing them within certain limits, and instructing them in the cultivation of the soil, besides other provisions that will have, we think, a tendency to keep them quiet. At the same council he also met the Mimbres Apaches, with whom he formed a treaty upon the same basis. From that time to the present these Indians have been as peaceable as any inhabitants in the Territory.

The Mesqueros were wise in their conclusion to come to terms, and they had good cause to want peace. They had not been so roughly handled for a long time before, if ever, as they received at the beginning of this year. The first taste they had of merited punishment was in the affair of Lt. now Capt. Sturgis; this was followed by the expedition under Capt. Jewell, into the heart of their country. He paid his respects to them at home, and taught them that they were not safe in their strong holds. Here, again, their loss was considerable, and among the number was Santa Ana, said to have been their head chief, and a bad Indian. They were badly whipped and were aware of it. Without disparagement to others, we look upon this as one of the most successful expeditions, in results, ever made in the country, and had much to do in causing them to sue for peace. To cap the climax of their misfortunes a pest, with a considerable force, was established in the heart of their country, and they were never safe from attack. This decided the question and they concluded to bury the hatchet. Discretion was, this time, the better part of valor.

In July the Governor made a visit into the Navajo country, and concluded a treaty with this tribe at Laguna Negra, with the same general provisions as those mentioned. The main object of this treaty was to fix the Navajos within certain limits, that may be, hereafter, Indian country, as they had not been hostile for years. In August he met the Capote Utehs, in council, at Abiquiu, and was equally successful with them. The chiefs and head men signed a satisfactory treaty, and we think, without doubt, they will remain firm in their decision to peace. And last, the most hostile of all the bands and tribes have showed their desire to bury the hatchet and live upon friendly terms with their white brethren. One day last week a delegation of Mahuche Utehs and Jicarilla Apaches came to see the Governor, and informed him they were tired of war and wished to make peace; and on the tenth instant he is to meet them, in council at Abiquiu. For years the Jicarillas have been the scourge, we may say, of our eastern frontier, and like the Jicarillas of old, their hands have been turned against every man, and every man's hand against them. Comparatively few in numbers, and with no virtues but courage, they have infested the mountains on the east and north and wandered upon our settlers without ceasing. To make terms with them, is getting rid of troublesome neighbors. We understand the chiefs and head men of the Jicarilla Apaches are to come to Santa Fe about the 20th of September, to make a treaty, which are the last to treat with.

Without doubt this submission of the tribes is owing to the course pursued by our civil and military authorities in relation to the Indians. The course of the Superintendent of Indian affairs and Commanding General, we think, are worthy of commendation; while the gallant conduct of our regulars and volunteers, in the field, had very much to do in bringing about the present peaceful state of affairs, and are entitled to great praise. We hope this state of things will continue in the future, and peace may reign throughout all the length and breadth of our Territory.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Arrival of the mail.

The Independence mail arrived here last Saturday, the 25th ultimo, a little behind the usual time. They encountered high water at different points on the route, which was the cause of their detention. There were no passengers. The news from the States is interesting, without being very important. There were fine crops, nearly all over the country, with a good prospect of times being much easier, money was becoming plenty, and business lively. In the political world much anxiety was manifested as to the result of the elections then about to be held. The Know-Nothings appear to be losing ground, and were becoming much split up and divided among themselves. The news from the war in Europe is interesting. Sebastopol is yet in the hands of the Russians, and, from all appearances, they are likely to be the masters of it for sometime to come. The allies made an assault upon it on the 18th of June, but were repulsed with the loss of several thousand men. Lord Raglan, the English Commander, is dead. Our foreign news, from other portions of the world, is not of much interest, and little change has taken place since the last arrival.

Gen. Garland at home again.

General Garland and Captain Jewell arrived in Santa Fe, from Fort Union and Las Vegas Springs, last Sunday afternoon. Captain Jewell left town for his post, at Las Lunas, Tuesday the 28th inst.

Exercises at the convent.

We had the pleasure of being present, last Tuesday, and witnessing interesting exercises at the convent of Nuestra Señora de la Luz, in this city, being the close of the scholastic term. We hope to be able to give a more extended account next week.

Arrivals from Texas.

Capt. Skillman, and several other gentlemen arrived in town, from El Paso Texas, last Tuesday. They bring news of an encounter between the troops and a party of Indians, supposed to be Mesqueros. A short time since. Thirteen out of fifteen Indians were killed.

Arrival of officers and recruits.

The detachment of recruits under the command of Bvt. Maj. J. B. Richardson, third infantry, which left Fort Leavenworth the 28th of last June reached Fort Union the 16th ultimo. They numbered four hundred and thirteen men and five mules and the following officers were on duty with the detachment.

Dr. G. Perin, U. S. A.
Lt. H. B. Schreiner.
" M. L. Davis.
" M. J. Carr.
" J. M. Smalde, and
" J. T. Mercer.

The command was accompanied by the following officers viz:
Bvt. Maj. W. A. Nichols Asst. Adj. Gen.
Bvt. Lt. Col. J. B. Grayson, Com. of subsistence.
Maj. Albert J. Smith Paymaster U. S. A.
and Bvt. Maj. W. A. Thornton Ordnance Department.

A number of men were lost, on the march, by the cholera, which broke out among them; and on the nineteenth of July, while encamped on Cow Creek, a fire broke out in camp, destroying nearly all the tents of the men, some muskets, harness &c. They were detained by high water, having to halt a week at the Salpio, before they could cross. Major Nichols and family, Col. Grayson and Major Smith arrived in town last Monday. The balance of the command were distributed to their respective posts from Las Vegas, and did not pass through Santa Fe.

Death of Cadet Coryell.

We cut the following notice from one of our exchange papers.

ELIAS E. CORYELL.—After a long and painful, and uncomplaining illness, at his father's house, this young man ceased to breathe in the evening twilight of the 18th of June, A. D. 1855.

He was the youngest son of Lewis S. Coryell, of New Hope, Pa. He was born July 13th, 1835, and was therefore one month and one week under 19 years of age. The writer of this notice has been accustomed to see him often for some five years past, and considers him to have been a most worthy youth, and of remarkable promise, morally and intellectually; and when last year he went to West Point to receive a public education to prepare him the better to serve his country and his kind, there seemed every reason for the hope that he would become a bright ornament of the age, and a useful citizen—perhaps a leader in the land, to the high position which awaits our nation, if guided by honesty and intellect. But inscrutable wisdom has withdrawn him from the combat of life, from which, though victorious, he could not have escaped without many a sore wound. Let the bereaved family who so tenderly feel his great loss, in this, and in better things, find consolation and comfort. To his ashes, and to their souls, be peace.—COMMUNICATED.

We are deeply grieved to learn the death of Cadet Coryell. He was a young man of great promise, and, for one of his age, was an unusually ripe scholar, and had fair to be an ornament to his country. A little more than a year ago he entered as a cadet at West Point, but was obliged to leave, shortly afterwards, on account of sickness, and was not able to return again to duty. Throughout a long illness he bore himself with great fortitude, and died regretted by all who knew him. The ashes of the good and virtuous grow sweet and blossom in the tomb.
